Narrative summary of committee work:

The Committee on the Library met six times during the academic year. The most important accomplishment of the committee was a report on the state of the library that was received by the Academic Senate at its April meeting. In this report the committee identified 6 areas of concern (space, security, print and electronic collections, environment, physical accessibility and Sunday hours). The hope of this report was to begin a more public discussion of the issues faced by the library, a discussion that appears to have begun.

In addition, the committee collected materials to aid the administration in the establishment of an assessment process for the library (presented to V.P. McColloch) and it facilitated a discussion concerning accessibility to the library for students with disabilities,
